Golden Anniversary.
(Contributed)

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ingram, celebrated their golden anniversary, at their home in Burgin, Tuesday, November 23rd. The home was decorated in yellow and white chrysanthemums. The table with its snowy covers and the bride's cake in the center formed a lovely picture. A delicious course dinner prepared by the children, was served.
One large heart upon which was written a poem, was presented to this venerable couple, and as they read it, events of the past fifty years were fondly recalled. Many hearts were given as tokens of affection. Mrs. Ingram before her marriage, was Miss Julia Ann Harrington, of this county. Both are hale and hearty and bid fair to spend many more years of happiness together.

Nearing Completion.

The rebuilding of the Boonesboro road from Winchester to the Kentucky River, and known as the Boone Highway, a distance of nine miles, and which has been under course of construction since last spring, was completed about January 1. This is said to be the finest roadway ever constructed in Clark county, and possibly in this section of the State. This was a most difficult road to construct, as evidenced by the long period which the contractors have devoted to the work, but the road has been reconstructed from top to bottom and is without a flaw. When completed it will become a most popular road of travel owing to the great favoritism shown the Kentucky River by tourists and others.

Democrats Freed.

The six Democrats held on the charge of confederating, in McCrory county during the recent election, were freed last Wednesday at Whitley City by County Judge Williams.

On the charge of confederating and banding together to destroy private property, four Democrats were arrested November 7 at Whitley City and later two others. The trouble arose from the fact that the office of the County Clerk, where the McCrory county ballots were kept, was broken into the Friday night after the election. It was discovered that the election certificates had been tampered with and that the number of votes originally cast for Morrow had been raised from 1,293 to 1,479. Prior to this several Democrats, among whom was the man arrested, had gone to the courthouse with the intention of guarding the ballot boxes. They were ordered away. Their criminal deeds weight to the charge by the Democratic headquarters; that the outrage was not committed by the Democrats because it was the Republicans who benefited by the return.

SERBIANS JOIN MONTENEGRINS*Holding Heavy Attacks on the Lim River.*IMPORTANT BATTLE PENDING

Reports From the West Front Indicate Another Big Action to Be in Preparation in Which Artillery Actions are Preliminary.

London, Nov. 22.—The German army commanded by General von Korff, which was reported as having advanced from Raska, the Ivar, where the river crosses the southern boundary of old Serbia, to Banja, northeast of Nevbazar, has taken the latter town, according to the German official statement. Nevbazar is a little over six miles southwest of Raska, on the Struma river.

Meanwhile the Serbian army was operating in the northwestern corner of the old Sanjak of Novbazar, has effectuated a junction with the Montenegrins and apparently has withdrawn with the Montenegrins across the Lim to Montenegro. An official Montenegrin statement announces that the Montenegrin and Serbia forces are holding heavy attacks on the Lim and that Montenegrins in the Sanjak have been compelled to retire to their principal positions of defense, presumably in their own mountains on the left bank of the river.

The withdrawal of a body of Serbians to Montenegro does not mean that the whole Serbian army in central Serbia has been driven off its own territory, for Kutrovic connected by railway with Uzbuk, where the road joins the Nis-Salonika railway, is still in Serbian hands, as is Pristina, southeast of Mitrovica and east of the railway.

The Serbian forces holding these towns and the rest surrounding have wide stretch of mountainous country behind them, extending to the Monegrin frontier, through which to retreat, should the necessity arise.

In the south the Serbians are in much more dire straits. Although there still is no confirmation from any of the contending armies, the report from Rome that Monastir has been occupied is repeated in a dispatch from Athens, also coming by way of Rome.
Reports of the French fighting along the western front, disclosing the fact that lively artillery actions are taking place at many points, is believed to be significant. The French, it is thought, are planning an important movement for which the artillery actions are a preparation. The official communiqué dealt chiefly with the artillery activity and the war office announced later that there was nothing to add to this previous communication.

VOLUNTARILY RAISES TAXES

Millionaire Increases Assessment on Winter Home Four Times.

Thomasville, Ga., Nov. 22.—Colonel O. H. Payne of New York, who has a large home near here, has proved that all millionaires are not tax dodgers by voluntarily quadrupling his tax returns in order to aid Thomas county.
The Payne home is known as Greenwood, and some time ago Colonel Payne asked his managers here what value was being placed on Greenwood for taxation. The manager stated the property was being returned at $45,000.

"That will never do," said Colonel Payne, "you must return Greenwood at $180,000 and the property was so returned. Colonel Payne said he took a great interest in Thomas county, especially in the good roads work and that he wanted to pay his full share of taxes.

Mill Harris and J. H. Wade of Cleveland, O., who own winter homes here, doubled their tax returns when they heard of Payne's action.

SHE WILL ASSIST SUFFRAGE

Miss Margaret Wilson to Help in Campaign Before Congress.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president, has accepted the invitation of the Women's Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage to assist in receiving delegates and guests of the convention which will meet in Washington simultaneously with congress, according to an announcement made at headquarters here.

The reception will be held on the evening of Dec. 7 and will be the occasion of the opening of new quarters which the congressional union has taken in Washington. In the residence facing Lafayette park, opposite the White House. Invitations have been mailed to the wives of all the cabinet officers to join the receiving line, and it is expected, particularly in view of the many conversions to suffrage in President Wilson's cabinet, this fall, that a number of the cabinet ladies will accept.

Thompson Not a Candidate.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Mayor William H. Thompson, whose name was filed with the state secretary of state as candidate for Republican nomination for president, will ask that his name be withdrawn, he said. His petition was filed without his knowledge and without his approval, the major said.

GIVE THANKS!Thanksgiving

By ANNA BLACKSTONE VALIQUET

THOU dost bless us, O our Father, Every day and every hour.
While awake and while we're sleeping
We are safe in thy great power.

Thou dost show us paths of beauty,
Leading on where all is bright,
Far beyond the clouds and darkness,
Into conscious realms of light.

All the earthly cares and struggles
Have a mission here, we find,
They unfold the priceless beauty Hidden jewels in mankind.

And we thank thee for thy blessings,
In our homes Thanksgiving day,
For our lives and all the dear ones Sacred to these hearts of ours.

And if any should be absent
In our homes Thanksgiving day,
We shall know that thou art with them,
Blessing in thy perfect way.

In the great eternal kingdom
We shall meet with one accord, Giving thanks and joyful praises
At the table of our Lord.

Every Day Thanksgiving Day.
We should make every day a thanksgiving day. I hold the same sentiments upon this subject as the late Dr. Martine Babcock of New York.
He said: "Why don't people have 365 days of thanksgiving and only one of scolding? The world would be so much happier." — Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone.

The Man Behind the Bird

By MINNA IRVING

(Copyright, 1915, by American Press Association.)

WE honor the heroes of history's page Who give it with greatness and glory—
Columbus, De Solo and all of the rest, Immortal in song and in story.
They sailed to discover this land of the west Through weather unpleasant and murky,
But there is another we should not forget—
The man who discovered the turkey.

He, gather the drumsticks, clean polished and picked,
From each bountiful Thanksgiving dinner
And rear him a monument loftier far
Than the highest in fact or in fable Though nameless, he shines through the list of the years
Like the sun through a fog hallow murky.
So let us give thanks while enjoying the bird
For the man who discovered the turkey.

To Thank Is to Remember.
The Anglo-Saxon verb "thencan" means to remember, and from it as a root we get our English words "think" and "thank." These words so closely related remind us that thankfulness is a result of thoughtfulness and that visions of the past will enable us to appreciate the victories of the present.

THANKSGIVING ENRICHES
AMERICA'S LIFE.

Thanksgiving day is one of the most precious and heartening anniversaries in the American year. That a people should be called by their president to remember in New England of unobtained descent from the pilgrims and Puritans regarded roasted or baked turkey as an Indian dish and would have none of it at any time, preferring for Thanksgiving day dinner roast beef, a saddle of mutton, pork spareribs, roast goose with apple sauce or farm raised ducks with berry sauce. The wild turkey was saved from extinction in New England only because the farmers noticed that those birds and the partridges served well in roasting the farms lands of insects and weeds.

What the turkey was the manifest of the Thanksgiving day dinner of the early colonists of New England seems to have come from the pen of a visiting Englishman at Plymouth, who described his travels in a book published in London just after the great fire.
He also told the absurd story of the starving condition of the pilgrims and of their being reduced at one time to a dinner of three grains of corn. The fact was that none of the early or late colonists could time starved, Plymouth or elsewhere along the north or the south shore, as the sea teemed with fish and shellfish and the woods were alive with game. As late as thirty years ago Bass Rock and Marshfield, near Plymouth, Mass., were resorted to by hundreds of hunters of wild birds, and to this hour deer and wild bird shooting is good in Plymouth county.

What the pilgrims and the Puritans craved in the early years of their settlements were roast beef and mutton, pork, wheaten, oats and barley bread, venison pasties made from the red deer stock, native to England; cans and jellies from English fruits preserved with brown sugar from the orient and English mead, ales and Holland spirits. Most of them disliked Indian corn in all forms of products for human consumption, and they disliked oysters, clams, lobsters, mussels, scallop, turkeys and native venison.
It was only when marriages of the early English settlers, and their descendants in New England with Indians brought about many persons of mixed blood that the English prejudices against certain native American food products passed away. To this day English travelers find some of our foods which we consider delicious strange to their palates. Matthew Arnold, traveling in America, was asked to taste griddlecakes. "Try them, my dear," he said to his wife; "they're not nearly so nasty as they look!"

ULTIMATUM IS SENT TO GREECE*Ordered to Join in War or Demobilize Troops.*GREEK COAST BLOCKADED

Entente Powers Have Closed Ports to Shipping of Nation—British Issue
Note Telling of Move—Must Know Her Position.

London, Nov. 22.—The entente allies have demanded that Greece either join with them and fulfill its treaty obligations to Serbia or demobilize, and to impress King Constantine that they mean what they say the allies have declared a commercial blockade of the Hellenic empire, according to dispatches from Athens.

There is no foundation for these statements available here, but it is very certain that Lord Kitchener, the British war secretary, who had an hour's audience with the king of Greece, and afterward saw Premier Skouloudis, took a firm stand and told them that the allies could and would do unless the demands were conceded.

The Athens correspondent of the Havas News agency confirms the report that the entente powers have declared a commercial blockade of Greece. The announcement to this effect, made in the form of a note issued by the British legation at Athens is given as follows:

"Because of the attitude taken by the Hellenic government in regard to certain questions touching closely the security and liberty of action to which the allied troops have the right under the conditions of their disembarkment on Greek territory, the allied powers have deemed it necessary to take certain measures which will have the effect of suspending the economic and commercial facilities which Greece has received from them heretofore.

"It is not the intention of the allied powers to constrain Greece to abandon her neutrality, to maintain which, in their eyes, is the best guaranty of her interests.

"As soon as their doubts on that subject—due, no doubt, to a misunderstanding—have been dispelled the powers will be happy to remove the obstacles now opposed to the arrival of merchandise in Greece and to accord any facilities which result from normal relations."

NEW RULING ON PATENTS

United States Can Use Devices Regardless of Infringement.

New York (Special): Judge Hough of the United States district court, refused in a patent infringement suit to delay the completion of the battleships New York and California, and the other war vessels under construction by enjoining Emil J. Simon, a radio-engineer from equipping the new ships with wireless apparatus.

The injunction was asked for by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company, which declared that Simon was infringing on one of the patents in carrying out his contract with the navy department. Judge Hough ruled that even if this contention were so, the government, in times of need, has a right to make the temporary use of any device on which it has granted a patent with or without the owner's consent.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst. I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework."

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

GREAT WORK OF KENTUCKY'S FISH AND GAME COMMISSION

COVERS AND STREAMS OF STATE BEING RESTOCKED WITH THE HOPE OF ONCE AGAIN MAKING KENTUCKY A SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE

EXECUTIVE AGENT WARD A BUSY MAN

Clubs Are Being Organized in the Different Counties to Promote Interest and Co-Operate With the Commission

When Daniel Boone and his sturdy pioneers came to Kentucky by the Wilderness road they found a land fertile beyond their wildest hopes, abounding with game and fish, upon which they were dependent for food and clothing. In reaching Kentucky, Boone and his followers found that the Indian tribes to the north, south and west had preceded them. To Kentucky the Indians made annual pilgrimage to kill their winter supply of game, which was found in great abundance and of splendid quality. At that time there was game in plenty for all, but the Indians looked with disfavor upon the presence of the white man, realizing that it meant the destruction of their favorite hunting grounds should they be left to occupy the land, so they stubbornly resisted by every possible means the advancement of the foreign hunter.

The Indian did not kill to excess and was determined that his happy hunting ground should not be destroyed. Their stubborn resistance made the name and early history of "Kaintuckee" typical of his Indian name, "Dark and Bloody Ground."

The pioneer, like the Indian, took only this supply for food and raiment, but with civilization grew the sport of hunting for pleasure, and so wantonly was game destroyed by this class of citizens that thoughtful and representative men soon realized that if game was to be conserved for future generations, it was necessary to enact laws protecting them during the breeding season.

The first game laws in Kentucky, of which there is any record, were passed in 1822, and were for the protection of fish. In fact, most of the early laws were measures for fish protection. At that time all laws in the state upon this subject were local or county laws and remained so until the adoption of the present Constitution. Since that time all laws enacted upon this subject have been state measures, applying alike to each county in the state. To the county authorities were charged the enforcement of measures of this character.

To the average citizen there was little necessity for the enforcement of these measures; in fact, there was so little public sentiment for the enforcement of these laws that they were openly violated without fear of prosecution. To those who gave the subject thought, it was apparent that it was necessary to create a new law and entrusting to and charging officers with the enforcement of these laws.

A bill was introduced in the 1910 session of the Legislature providing for the creation of a Game and Fish Commission, but was defeated. A similar measure, possibly wider in scope, was introduced in 1912 and enacted into law, which became effective in 1913. This law is found in its entirety in Chapter 35, Acts 1912.

To this Commission and its agents are entrusted the enforcement of the law and the restocking of fields and streams with game and fish. Authority was given to the Commission to appoint wardens throughout the state to enforce the law. Chapter 35, Acts 1912, made no changes in the then existing game laws, except that it provided that all hunters when hunting off their own land or that immediately adjoining their own, with the permission of the owner, should first secure a hunting license, for which they were to pay the County Court Clerk $1. The law provided that five thousand ($5,000) dollars should be appropriated for the maintenance of the department during its first year. This sum, however, to be in the nature of a loan, and directed that the Commission should return this sum—or as much thereof as used—to the Treasurer from the first moneys collected from the sale of hunters' license. Of the $5,000 appropriated, only $420.71 was drawn from the appropriation in the months of June and July, 1912. This amount, and the remainder of the $5,000, was returned to the state in August, 1912. Since that time the Commission has not drawn one cent from the state's funds for the maintenance of the department, and it is specially provided that the state can not give any further financial assistance, and the State Treasurer is directed not to honor any warrants drawn by the Game and Fish Commission unless the money is in the State Treasury to the credit of the Game and Fish Protection Fund. All of this fund must be derived from the sale of hunting license.

During the year 1912 a call for volunteer wardens was made, the Commission agreeing, should their funds be sufficient, to pay the next year, to compensate as many of the wardens as possible, the selections for paid representatives to be made upon the merit system and without regard to political affiliations. The Commission is grateful to the volunteer wardens for their services and is earnestly laboring to develop a paid, competent warden service as rapidly as their funds will permit. The Commission is not now able to do this for some time—to have a paid warden service in each county of the state, but even if this were possible, they could not accomplish the ends that they so earnestly desire until they have the co-operation and support of interested parties and representatives of citizens, and by this assistance and co-operation is meant, not only their assistance in securing the arrest and conviction of all violators, but by giving out the information in order that the general public and night thoroughly know the reasons and necessity for the strict observance of the laws.

THE CONDITIONS EXISTING IN OTHER STATES.

Hunting License.

The present hunting license law is not a new departure and prevails in every state in the Union, except Maine, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina and Mississippi. Every state in the Union now requires that non-residents have a hunting license, except Arkansas, and there a non-resident is not permitted to hunt except upon his own land. All of the State Game and Fish Commissions throughout the United States and Canada are maintained and operated by funds accruing from the sale of hunters' license, and in each state, as in Kentucky, the property owner is not taxed to maintain a Commission.

Combination hunting and fishing license, permitting the hunter and fisherman to both hunt and fish upon a single license, is now in vogue in fourteen states. Other states are sure to follow this plan, as it is the only hunter is required to pay license, the fisherman is equally honest, the funds being spent alike for the improvement of conditions for both, and it seems but just that the fisherman should contribute his part to the enforcement of the law and the restocking of the streams with fish, by which he is surely benefited.

HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGES

In May, 1914, we liberated 300 Hungarian partridges; twenty of these birds were sent to each of fifteen counties. The birds seemed to take very kindly to Kentucky, and many scattered broods were reported in the early fall, and in the spring of 1915 some reports were had of these birds. We hope we have to get a report from the hunters that go ahead that will give us definite information.

How Molly Burton Saved Jim Hodson's Mining Shares

By SADIE OLCOTT

Molly Burton was a western woman of the early days, when every man was a gambler, a horse thief, a miner or something worse than any of these. Molly kept a boarding house and was half fellow well met with her boarders, who were all men. There was nothing squeamish about Molly, but she was considered perfectly straight. The only dissipation she indulged in was gambling, and this with her was a passion. If she had dollars to stake she would play dollars; if she had cents it would be penny ante. She always played a fair game and would take no charity from any one. Once when an opponent bet to lose purposely in order to enable her to recoup she told him that if he did it again there would be no more play between them.

One day a man got hold of Hodson and struck it big. It was while he was developing a claim that he came to Molly Burton's house to board. She used to play penny ante with him, but would never consent to a considerable stake. She said that he needed all his money to get his claim in condition to offer on the market. She also saw to it that he did not fall into the hands of card sharks. If she saw him playing with one of the fellows she would ask him for a loan, thereby getting his money out of his hands.

One day Hodson struck a vein that made his property very valuable. A company was formed which gave him a large block of stock with plenty of cash down. He accepted the position of superintendent. When not engaged in his duties at the mine he played cards at Molly Burton's. Despite all her efforts to prevent it he was soon stuck for some $20,000. Molly played with him in order to keep him from playing with any one else. He knew she would take no charity from him, so he played to win. In the long run they stood nearly even.

One day a man got hold of Hodson and was playing him for all he was worth when Molly interfered. From that time forward Molly kept Hodson playing with her all his spare time, and it soon came to be noticed by those who overlooked the game that she was cheating him. This caused great surprise, because Molly was known to be square with every one, especially Jim Hodson. No one said anything to her about her manipulation of the cards. That was none of their business, and any of them would gladly see her gain.

It was not known to any one besides Hodson and Molly how much of his money she was relieving him of, but it was considerable. One night when they were playing together alone Jim said to Molly: "If you clean me out, Moll, what'll you do with the funds?" "Marry a good for nothing man," "Don't see what such a first class woman as you wants with a good for nothing man."

"Well, a weak woman wouldn't; a strong one would. It's our opposites we like."

They were playing ordinary euchre. Molly was "turning jack" on her victim, dealing herself hands to match the trump and every now and again proposing to raise the stake. Hodson was very stupid not to see that he was getting slaughtered, but he had no faculty for cards and was blind as a bat to sleight of hand. Besides, he never dreamed that Molly would cheat. Moreover, there was no money on the table; he was continually signing I. O. U's.

The truth is he had lost all his cash and was signing away his stock in the mine. Molly knew how many shares he owned, and keeping count in her head, she was aware that she had I. O. U's for 90 per cent of them. When she took in the final turn she called a unit and said: "Jim, how many shares in your mine do you own?" "Fifty thousand."

Molly took up the I. O. U's and, adding the amounts on them, figured up 33,000 shares. Jim turned pale. "You're a good man, Jim," said Molly, "and I'm going to give you a chance to win back your property." Writing something on the back of one of the I. O. U's, she folded it and told him to put it in his pocket.

"I'll play all I have won from you against what's on that paper."

Jim begged to know what it was, but she wouldn't tell him. He was desperate enough to accept any terms, so he consented. He proposed euchre, but Molly substituted a showdown poker hand, with Jim for dealer, saying that she wanted him to be sure that there was no shuffling. Jim said he was sure of that already. They concluded to make it the best in three hands, and Jim dealt the first hand. Molly won, drawing a king with aces and sevens. Jim had no pair. The second hand Jim won, drawing aces and deuces. His hand trembled as he dealt the third time, and when the cards were drawn he showed the queen of hearts high against jack high.

Without waiting for Molly to hand over his I. O. U's he took out the paper she had given him, unfolded it and read a single word—"Yourself."

It required some time to get the meaning through his head, though he was assisted by a mild blush on Molly's face. When he understood he reached across the table and took Molly in his arms.

This is how Molly saved Jim Hodson's interest in a mine which eventually became enormously valuable.

Daddy's Bedtime

What the Very Young Baby Tries to Say.

I SUPPOSE you kiddies don't understand what a very young baby tries to say," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn when they had come to him for the evening story. "Of course I don't, so very long ago that you kiddies were babies yourselves, and I think I can remember well enough about that to come pretty close to the true meaning of baby language."

"So I'll start right in from the day the stork brought a very young baby to the parents who loved it very much."

"That baby was very small and red, and when it pucker up its funny face you couldn't tell for the life of you whether it was smiling or getting ready to cry. But it didn't leave you very long in doubt of its intentions, for very soon it raised a voice that was a great deal bigger than it was, and it just yelled for all it was worth."

"Yes; it did quite a little crying at first, but after awhile it contrived a funny little crooked smile that was for all the world like it looked when it was preparing for a good cry. Its mother didn't know which it was for a moment, and then she was overjoyed to find that it was a really truly smile, and she called to papa to come and see it."

"Then the baby said 'Goo!'"

"That first little 'Goo!' is a great word in baby language, and I will tell you what it means."

"I'm very little and weeny," it says, "and I don't know very much yet. I have wondered a great deal since the stork brought me, for this is very different from Stork Land, and you see I had to get used to things. But you two big people—I don't know who you are yet, but you both look good to me, and I think I shall like you very much. In fact, I like everything well enough, so I've made up my mind to smile about it and make the best of everything except when I cry, and I have a right to cry. Maybe there is a pin in me."

"And after awhile the baby said something that sounded like 'Goo-goo-goo-goo!'"

"That meant this: 'I notice you two big people are working your faces and making funny sounds at me, and I don't in the least know what that means, except that I suppose I'm expected to make funny sounds back. So I do, and I'll wager they are funnier sounds than you can make.'"

"So that's the way it goes, kiddies, and as the baby grows older and makes more sounds to tell you its impressions of life, and so on it goes until it is old enough to really talk and tell the big people it loves them as they love it, and by and by the little baby is a little child that asks its parents questions they can't answer."

SUNDAY SCHOOL

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Lesson IX.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 28, 1915.

Text of the Lesson, Amos v, 1-15. Memory Verses, 14, 15—Golden Text, Jer. xxiii, 28—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The message of Jonah was to gentiles, suggestive of foreign missions; that of Amos was to Israel, and therefore a home mission lesson reminding us of the need of the church today to be awakened to see her privileges and opportunities and responsibilities. The sins of Israel and her needs were not different from those of believers now. They bore the name of Jehovah, but were false to Him and worshiped idols. "They know not to do right, whilst the Lord" (iii, 10). There was self and sin in all their worship. Therefore the Lord said, "Offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving and leave." "For this I like you" (iv, 4, 5). Leaven is always a type of evil. Because of the sin in their professed worship of God He said, "I hate, I despise your feast days." I will not accept nor regard your offerings (v, 21-23). Although they outwardly kept new moons and Sabbath days their hearts were long for them to sell corn and wheat and grow rich, but in fact, giving much measure and taking in much money as possible (viii, 4, 5).

Consider the growing rich by fraud that abounds today even among those who hold high positions in the church. The oppression of the poor, the formality in worship, the false teaching that all are children of God, that Jesus Christ was only one of the sons of God, better than the others, but not God; that there is no hell, no lake of fire; that if people are not saved in this life they can be in the next and that a God of love will never allow any one to perish eternally; the Bible cannot be taken literally, it does not mean what it says—consider all these horrible things and then think how God in His mercy sent forth a Daniel Crawford from the heart of Africa and a William Sunday from the baseball field to show His people their sins and to uphold the honor of His word.

How does the Lord plead with Amos? He reminded them out of Egypt, led them forty years in the wilderness, given them the lands of others, raised up prophets and Nazirites from among their sons and revealed to them how God in His mercy sent forth a Daniel Crawford from the heart of Africa and a William Sunday from the baseball field to show His people their sins and to uphold the honor of His word.

Men are trying to remedy the evils that exist, to reform or uplift the race, to bring a kingdom of peace on earth by their own efforts. But they know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither understand they His counsel" (Mic. iv, 12). They do not know that the babe of Bethlehem was born to rule in Israel and that there can be no kingdom of peace on earth till He shall come again (Mic. v, 2-4). People are so filled with their own thoughts and ways, just as Israel was, that they will not be agreed with God and therefore cannot walk with Him (Amos iii, 8). Because many preachers in pulpits and teachers from seminaries are turning away from God to the wisdom of men there is a famine of hearing the words of the Lord (Amos viii, 11). As in the last lesson, those who have knowledge of God are disobedient and asleep and must be awakened. As it is written in Eph. v, 14, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." "Be not wise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is" (Eph. v, 17, 18). "It is high time to awake out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed. The night is far spent, the day is at hand" (Rom. xiii, 11, 12). The whole world lieth in wickedness; it is an evil age from which the Lord desires to deliver us (1 John v, 19; Gal. i, 4). All things indicate as never before that the end of this evil age is near and that it is a time to be specially separated unto God from all evil and unbelief.

Forests of Kentucky.

The forests of Kentucky are one of the State's great natural resources which, properly used and conserved, mean a permanent source of revenue to the citizens of the Commonwealth. The best figures obtainable place the remaining supply of Kentucky timber at 25,000,000,000 feet, board measure. The area of Kentucky is 41,383 square miles or 27,421,190 acres. About 35 per cent of this area supports some kind of tree growth. In 1913 (the last figures available) there was cut 541,531,000 feet board measure of timber from Kentucky forests, a decrease of about 100,000,000 feet from 1912. About 2,500,000 cross ties are purchased annually by the railroads from the forests of this State.

About 75,000,000 feet board measure of timber from Kentucky forests is consumed annually in mining operations within the State. An unestimated amount of timber forests is used for staves, heading and hoop poles; for telephone and telegraph poles and poles for electric light and power companies; for fence posts and fencing; for lath and shingles; and numerous other uses. The annual drain roughly is 800,000,000 feet board measure. There are over 1,000 active saw mills in the Commonwealth and over $21,000,000 in capital is invested in the logging and mill sawing operations. Over thirteen thousand wage earners are employed, five times as many as in the distilled liquor business, which heads the list in value of the product. Kentucky consumes each year over 200,000,000 feet of her own forest in the further manufacture of wood into final form, and imports close to 200,000,000 feet from other states for which nearly $10,000,000 is paid annually.

Over 250 firms are engaged in the manufacture of lumber, the chief products of which are: boxes and crating; sash, doors and planing mill products; vehicle stock; furniture of all descriptions; handles; cars, locomotives and railroad cars; musical instruments; farm implements; baskets; fruit and vegetable packages; tanks; and tubs; Coffins, caskets and casket cases; trunks; miscellaneous.

Rheumatism and Allied Pains—They Must Go!

The congestion of the blood in its flow causes pain. Sloan's Liniment penetrates to the congestion and starts the blood to flow freely! The body's warmth is renewed; the pain is gone. The "man or woman who has rheumatism, neuralgia or other pain and fails to keep Sloan's Liniment in their home is like a drowning man refusing a rope." Why suffer? Get a bottle of Sloan's 25c and 50c. $1.00 bottle holds six times as much as 25c. size. All drug stores.

Game Season Opens.

On Monday, November 15, the Kentucky game law was suspended, until January 1st, 1916, and it will now be lawful for those who have a license, a gun and dog to kill birds if they can find them—and rabbits, too. It would be well for hunters or sportsmen, in addition to informing themselves as to the requirements of the State Game Laws, to get in touch with the Federal regulations regarding migratory birds. The Department of Agriculture has issued a warning that Federal regulations as amended October 1, 1914, will be enforced this year in regard to all migratory birds, even in States where local laws are in conflict with Federal regulations. The Government has studied the migrations of birds, as no State or individual can, and the shooting restrictions have been based on such findings. Every real sportsman will recognize the wisdom of these findings and co-operate in protecting certain birds for years to come, a closed season for years for some, indefinitely for insect-eating birds, short season for others and restricted area for many. Study the law before getting out your gun.

NOTICE.

It is proposed to devote the afternoon of Thursday, November 25, 1915, to the Farmers' Week, to a discussion of the problems of co-operative marketing. This discussion will be led by leading authorities on the subject from this and other institutions, and will be open to farmers and all interested therein. It is hoped that out of this discussion will develop definite plans for a constructive programme of work on the marketing questions of today, which confront the farmers of Kentucky. You are cordially invited to attend this meeting and to participate in this discussion. JOSEPH H. KASTLE, Director Ky. Agricultural Experiment Station. 46-1/2

November is a good month for pruning the apple orchard, after the crop is in and the leaves are off. Do not wait until spring to do this work, for time is apt to be too scarce to attend to it properly.

The sale of 325 acres of land belonging to the Estill estate in Bourbon county was made to Mr. John Marshall, of Lexington, last week, the purchaser paying $40,025, or about $125 an acre. A tract containing 30 acres and adjoining the land sold, was leased to Mr. Marshall for a term of years.

At the B. F. Spencer sale near Spencer Station, horses brought from $40 to $140, cows $35 to $36, feeding cattle $6.50 to $6 per hundred, sheep $8.75 to $10 a head, a silo containing 150 tons of feed sold at $1.45 a ton. The sale totaled $8,253. This is the largest sale held in Montgomery county for some time.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

The safest kind of farming is that which makes it possible for the farmer and his family to live well. Even if large crops which must be turned into cash are produced, unless a large portion of the food and feed be also grown most of the cash must be used to buy the necessities which doubtless could have been raised cheaper than the cash crops. It is not the amount of cash we handle that gives us profit, but amount above the cost of production and marketing. We enjoy that which gives us the greatest comfort and convenience.

McIntyre & Moffett brought of D. H. Kirk Curry, of Blue Lick Springs, 150 head of export cattle averaging 1,395 pounds, at $5 a hundred, or a total of $16,740. Caywood & McClintock shipped three car loads of fat hogs, averaging 200 lbs. to Cincinnati. The swine cost $6 a hundred. Caywood, Smith & McClintock bought 11 head of aged mules at Mt. Sterling, Mondav, at an average of $150 a head. Thomas McClintock, of Millersburg, sold to Clark & Young, of North Middletown, eight mule mules at prices from $165 to $175 a head.—Paris Kentuckian-Citizen.

The most beautiful poultry show in Kentucky is held at the State University each January during Farmers' Week. Beautiful silver cups and money premiums are offered for the best exhibits of chickens, turkeys, etc. Mr. Theodore Wittman, the greatest living judge of poultry will tie the ribbons and give a talk. Over two thousand dollars worth of coops are used in the show room and they are supplied to exhibitors free by the University. A splendid lot of speakers will be present to address the poultry raisers and farmers on Wednesday of the week of the show. A catalog will be ready for distribution in a few days.

The department of Entomology and Botany of the Kentucky Experiment Station at Lexington has given much attention to hemp varieties and the study of hemp diseases during the past fifteen years. The variety known as Minno soia No. 8, which was introduced into Kentucky some years ago is said to be of superior productiveness and hardiness. The department has a small surplus of seed on hand, and may be able to furnish some of it to those who wish to engage in hemp growing next spring. The present high prices paid for fiber and seeds are likely to be surpassed next year if the European supply continues cut off, and there is a prospect for a very exceptional demand for good hemp seed in the spring of 1916.

Terror to "Bad Men" Dead.

A telegram from Little Rock, Arkansas, was received at Paris last Wednesday, announcing the death at that place of Mr. Joseph Forsyth, formerly of Bourbon county. A history of Mr. Forsyth's life would be like a tale of the old days in the lawless West. At one time he served as deputy sheriff of Bourbon county and afterward as United States Deputy Marshal. It was said that he never, during his term of office, failed to get his man. At one time he carried in his body seventeen bullets, received in running fights with the desperadoes of those days. At Maysville, Ky., in quelling a riot, a bullet passed through his body, falling at his feet. He killed the man who shot him.

About twenty-five years ago, Mr. Forsyth went to Texas, where he served as an officer and was a terror to the lawbreakers of that State. He was offered $500 a month to go to Honeywell, Kansas, and rid that town of an undesirable element. He accepted, and in less than a month had cleaned up what was conceded to be the toughest town in the West. His body was brought to Paris for burial.

Afternoon Frock of Plaid Silk and Serge

Designed by J. M. Gidding & Co., New York.

SEVERE simplicity is the keynote to most of the afternoon or informal frocks this season, and the combination of cloth and silk is much favored. The tunic is still retained, but is worn over a fuller underskirt. The foundation of the above frock is plaid chiffon taffeta in the delightful shades of blue and green, cleverly combined with a full plaited tunic of navy blue serge. The blouse waist is of the silk, with sleeves of serge, which also reveal the favor that is accorded to the union of different materials. The dress is belted in with a fancy buckled silk girdle and is trimmed with a pointed collar of blue georgette crepe, bordered with a band of plaid silk. Contrasting with the plaid gown, the elaborate millinery creation here pictured is strikingly attractive. It is a high crowned turban entirely made of dazzling blue feathers. ANNA MAY.

"I BOUGHT A BUNCH OF PIGS"

"Get the biggest piece of news yet," yelled Dave Thurman as he rode up to the old blacksmith shop at Ashbottom.

"Well give it to us, Dave." "John Hughes's going to run for school trustee?"

"No, you're joking, Dave. John, he's too busy a farmer to bother with being school trustee, besides he hasn't got any kin folks teachin' school that I ever heard of."

"That may be so, but I got word about it, mighty straight. His wife told me he was going to run an' I reckon that's just about as straight as anybody could get anything. Here he comes now on his ol' bay mare, an' you can ask him for yourself."

When the tall, fine-looking man had given the blacksmith some instructions concerning the mending of a doubletree, he turned to the men and said:

"I'll bet anything Dave has told you I'm out for the office of school trustee for Ashbottom Subdistrict."

"Yes, he said you were going to run, but we couldn't hardly believe it, an' answered one of the neighbors."

"Why not?" "Well, because mighty few men ever wanted the trouble and bother of worryin' with a young teacher an' a lot of children. Besides there ain't a penny in it an' plenty of hard work if the man does his duty."

The candidate sat down on the frame of the grindstone under the big elm and quietly crossed his legs. For a time he was silent with an odd, bitter smile on his face. At length he arose and said:

"Any one of you men would fight if anybody told you that you really didn't love your children, wouldn't you?"

The men about him nodded their assent and he hurried on.

"You do love 'em; I know you do because I love mine, too. But boys, there's over so many ways of lovin' children an' it's only lately that I've seen a new way to love 'em. My children have been goin' to school out at the little school house for five years an' I hardly ever gave 'em a thought. I voted for any ol' galoot that wanted to be trustee just like you have."

"What made you swap around in your ideas?" asked one of the men.

"Feedin' hogs an' keepin' my eyes open."

"Don't you joke with us, John, we want to know."

"I have already told you, but I haven't told you the whole story just as it happened to me. You fellows recollect I bought a big bunch of pigs just about the time school opened. Well they were as nice as a bunch as I ever saw, so I wanted 'em to be fed right. My regular hand, ol' Sil, was sick, so I had to hire a new man to do the feedin'."

While I was lookin' around I put the hogs in that clover field down next the school house so they'd have grazin' enough an' plenty of water."

"I reckon you boys think I'm takin' a long time to tell you the story, but I believe it'll change your ideas about the school like it did mine. Well, the day I put the hogs in on the clover a nice little youngster about 18 years old come over to hire me an' feed the hogs. I talked with him an' he was bright all right, but he never had a hog. He had worked on a farm an' he had a pretty good education, an' I wanted to hire him, but you see I was afraid to risk feedin' a lot of corn to pigs that stood me five hundred dollars in hard money."

"I don't blame you," remarked one of the men, "but how did that make you decide you wanted to be trustee?"

"I'm comin' to that now. After the young man had left an' I'd finished feedin' the pigs I went over to the school house as I was so close by. When I went in the door I reckon I was still thinkin' about the pigs an' the young man I was afraid to hire. At any rate I looked over the room. My children and your children goin' to school to a mite of a sweet little girl of 18. I'd known her nearly all her life an' I was certain this was the first school she'd ever taught. I knew she'd only finished goin' to school her self last year."

"For a minute I felt like a fool because I knew I'd been afraid to trust the feedin' of my hogs to a youngster without experience an' yet here were four of my own children goin' to school to an 18-year-old little girl without any experience."

"That's the reason I told you I was learnin' to love my children a new way, an' that's the reason I'm goin' to take time to be trustee so I can see that my children an' your children get a fair square deal from now on."

SUICIDES WITH A PISTOL

Commissioner Broken Dies After Shooting Self Four Times. Brooksville, Ky. (Special): Using an old-fashioned, single-barreled 22 caliber pistol, James H. Ware, master commissioner of Broken county, shot himself in the head four times and died without regaining consciousness. Mr. Ware had been in ill health for about a year, suffering from a nervous break down, but so far as is known had never threatened to take his life. He was alone in his office over the local bank when he fired the shots.

The dead man had been master commissioner for five or six years and was one of the wealthiest and most respected men in the community. He was forty-five years old and leaves a wife and one daughter.

A Great Exemplar.

Born the fatherless son of a slave woman, Booker T. Washington became nationally famous and nationally respected. He was the guest of one President, the host of another. He spoke from the same platform with Samuel Clemens, Joseph H. Choate, Seth Low and Robert C. Ogden. He was a Master of Arts by virtue of a degree conferred upon him at Harvard and a Doctor of Laws of Dartmouth College. He was acknowledged the greatest educator the negro race ever produced. Possibly he was the greatest man in all history with negro blood in his veins. The record of his rise is unparalleled. But because he was so great a man he was genuinely modest. He never sought honors. He never sought to push the negro where he was not wanted.—New York Press.

Oil On Sweet Lick
The East Tribune says: "An oil well was drilled in Wednesday afternoon on the Rawlins farm on Sweet Lick by Mr.
Gibson. Oil in what is thought to be paying quantities was found at a depth of 225 feet. The location of this well is about four miles from several producers in the neighborhood of Pias, showing the extent of paying territory considerably larger than was generally supposed."
Judging from the name, "Sweet Lick," we presume this well produces sweet oil.

Popular Man III.
Mr. Gilbert Grinstead, who resides on the Summit in this city, was stricken with intestinal infection Friday night about eleven o'clock. Mr. and Mrs.
R. R. Burnam, who were returning from a reception in the auto bus of Mr.
John Azbill, on passing the residence of Mr. Grinstead, were halted by the victim's wife who had started in search of help. Mr. Burnam ran into the house and found Mr. Grinstead lying on the floor in front of an open gate and putting his bare hands in the fire. The unfortunate man recognized Mr. Burnam and conversed with him, but his talk was rather strange. Mr. Azbill also arrived on the scene and he and Mr. Burnam put the unfortunate man to bed, and he has since been in a critical condition. Mr. Grinstead had a similar attack about five years ago while residing at Somerset, but has since been in apparently good health.
He is a model citizen and one of the most popular traveling men on the road. His many friends are grieved over his misfortune.

Gordon's Turkey Contest.
Gordon's Turkey Contest, advertised extensively in the Climax-Madisonian for the past month and which began Monday, November 8th, came to a close as advertised Tuesday, November 10th.
Mrs. Effie Oldham, of Waco, captured all three prizes of $10 in gold each, $30 in all. Her birds weighed as follows: 12 Young Hen Turkeys, 150 pounds.
12 Young Tom Turkeys, 210 pounds.
12 Young Turkeys (6 each, hens and toms), 305 pounds.

The winning turkeys were Mammoth Bronze.
Much interest was taken by the ladies in this contest. Many of them going in person to the pens to see their fowl weighed and recorded.
Mrs. Gordon informs us that this prize giving contest brought him the best quality of turkeys he has ever bought in Madison county.
It was a business proposition with Mr.
Gordon and has proven a big success.
Mr. Gordon is a hustler in anything he undertakes and is surely a hustler with a big H when it comes to turkeys.
He is now in Boston and requests us to ask the winner, Mrs. Oldham to call at the Climax office and get her prize money, $30 in gold.

Business Men's Association.
The Business Men's Association met pursuant to adjournment at the Court House Friday evening, November 19, President T. C. Vaughn in the chair and Secretary W. F. Higgins at his desk.
Despite the stormy evening there was a good attendance. Besides the membership of the association, a number of farmers and professional men were present.
The objects and purposes of the association were explained by the president, T. C. Vaughn. John E. Sexton was elected vice-president and a board of directors were chosen.

Upon suggestion and motion of Mr.
Allen Zaring, one of the most important items of business was the appointment of a "Get Acquainted" committee composed of Allen Zaring, Joe Oldham, John E. Sexton, Secretary W. F. Higgins, R.
McKinney, Z. T. Rice and R. L.
Arnold. The purpose of this committee is to encourage the getting together of the business men of the county, getting acquainted so they will pull together in one common cause, the up-building of the town and county and to devise ways and means looking to that end.

A "whirlwind" committee composed of B. G. Nunnally, J. S. Stanier and George Goodloe, was also appointed.
This committee is of no less importance than the one above named. Its object is to visit at times in connection with the business men of the city, the merchants and business men of the county, to promote a feeling of "united we stand" and closer fellowship between town and county, to boost the town and county and every every enterprise great and small within our borders.

The committee on By-Laws will be ready to report at the next meeting, Friday evening, December 3, at which time it is hoped a large membership will be present.
After adjournment of the meeting of the Business Men's Association, a number of our local merchants assembled and organized a Merchants Credit Association. Carried to a successful finish this will be a great thing for both the merchants and the consumers. It protects the merchant against the unscrupulous buyer, and it gives the honest purchaser a letter of credit wherever he may go. Hence, it is beneficial to both parties where honesty prevails, and it gives dishonesty a black eye.

NEW TRAIN
And Important Changes in Schedule On L. & N.

The Climax-Madisonian,
Richmond Ky.

Gentlemen:—I beg to respectfully submit changes of schedule of our passenger trains effective Sunday, November 21st, and will ask that you kindly change your figures accordingly, and oblige. Effective with this time table we will have a new train, known as the "Southland," running solid from Chicago, Ill. to Jacksonville, Fla., daily, without change, returning leaves Jacksonville daily, running solid to Chicago without change. This train starts from Pearl and Butler streets, and goes into the same station at Cincinnati, Ohio, instead of using the Union Station as at present. However, transfer trains will leave the Union Station and connect with it at Latonia. This service enables passengers to board this train here and go to Chicago, and other Pennsylv-vania points where the train stops North of Cincinnati without change at Cincinnati, and the train will be made up of the following equipment: New large type engines, eight electric lighted, all steel coaches, dressing room sleeping cars, and observation sleeper between Cincinnati and Jacksonville.
Dining car service all the way, including breakfast into Jacksonville. Leaves Chicago at 12:01 midnight, via Pennsylvania Lines, Cincinnati 8:00 a. m., arriving at Jacksonville 8:35 following morning. This train also has a drawing-room electric lighted sleeper which leaves Cleveland daily at 12:05 midnight, via Big Four. This enables passengers to travel between that point and Jacksonville without change. We sell through tickets to all points North and South, and will make reservations for berths required in either direction on request of passengers desiring it.
Yours truly
J. P. Rucker, Agent.

A Great Sale.
Possibly the greatest sale ever held by a drug firm in Central Kentucky was inaugurated last week by H. L. Perry & Sons, of this city. This firm is widely known as the Rexall Store, which enjoys a large and increasing patronage.
The store is located in the middle of the block in the principal business section of the city. Recently a handsome new and modern front was placed in the building at a cost of nearly $2,000.
New fixtures added, and the store rearranged and improved throughout.
To day it is one of the finest and most up-to-date drug stores in the country, and the big One-cent Sale held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, by the widely-known proprietors, was one of the greatest events in the history of our city. The firm made a price of one cent additional and gave the purchaser two articles for the price of one, plus one cent. Everything offered were articles of genuine merit, fully guaranteed by the proprietors, and the large crowds that thronged the store and the big purchases made, shows that it pays to advertise if you have the goods to back up your statements. Messrs. Perry & Sons carried a page advertisement in the Climax-Madisonian, and also killed the county. They had the goods to back up their statements, and as a result they sold hundreds of dollars worth of goods that would otherwise be lying in their store to-day. They are well pleased and everybody else is more than satisfied.

Our Next County Judge.
"Old dame rumor has been circulating the report for the past several days, that upon the retirement of Hon. W. R.
Shackelford from the county judgeship, Mr. J. G. Baxter would fall heir to the throne. We are not in a position to say that Mrs. Rumor knows whereof she speaks, but we will say that our old friend, Judge Baxter, is a man of a splendid County Judgeship, and is a splendidly more familiar with the great and splendid work promulgated and executed by Judge W. R. Shackelford than any other man. We feel confident that his appointment to the exalted position would give great satisfaction.
For several years Mr. Baxter has been Road Supervisor of Madison county, and he has made a capable and efficient public servant. He is conversant with the road laws, road construction, etc., and this is very essential and important at this time—the very thing a County Judge should know. There are several other applicants for Judge Shackelford's logs, the appointment of either of whom would make a splendid judge.
We understand it is the desire of Judge Shackelford to see Mr. Baxter appointed. We have no preference in the matter, but want to see the best man get the place.

party in honor of two attractive brides of October, Mrs. Gus Moran and Mrs. C. E.
Stewart.

After an interesting game, in which the prize was awarded to Miss Christine Egalite, and the guests of honor each presented with a hand-painted china plate, an elaborate supper of substantial and ices was served.
The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. J. P. Sullivan, and her sister, Miss Helen Sullivan.
The invited guests were: Mrs. Gus Moran, Mrs. C. E. Stewart, Mrs. James Kelly, Misses Ella Kennedy, Josie Kennedy,

The Washington Correspondent of the Courier-Journal, had the following complimentary notice concerning Madisonians in Sunday's issue:
"Among the most notable attending the brilliant reception given at the Japanese Embassy by the Ambassador of Japan and the V-countess Chinda, in celebration of the formal accession to the throne of the new Emperor of Japan, were Mr. and Mrs. C. C.
McChord, Rear Admiral J. C. Watson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Osborne, Capt. Carlo B. Brittain, U. S. N., Mr.
Brittain, and the latter's mother, Mrs. T.
E. Baldwin, of Richmond, all Kentuckians.
Mrs. Baldwin has just returned home after a delightful visit to her son-in-law and daughter. She was entertained extensively at affairs at the Army and Navy, Chevy Chase and other exclusive clubs, and at many private lunches, dinners, teas and other functions."

Capt. Brittain is a brilliant young Kentuckian, who has been steadily in the navy.
November 20 he will leave the Navy Dispatch, where he has been assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation, and will take command of the dreadnaught Michigan in the Atlantic hattleship fleet.
This is a notable distinction. Commander Brittain and his wife have one son, who is a midshipman at Annapolis."

The Woman's Club held a meeting on Monday, of unusual interest, under the chairman of music, Mrs. M. C. Kellogg.
Mrs. Kellogg is justly noted for her musical, her knowledge of music, combined with her executive ability and social gift assures success. The performers Monday composed an "all-star cast" and the numbers rendered were most attractive. Those contributing to the success of the afternoon were Misses Mary D. Pickels, Ruth Barnes, Elizabeth Turley, Elizabeth Burnam, Cynthia Davidson and Mrs. Mc-Gaughey. Mrs. Ballard and Miss Jamie Caperton were delightful in song. Cyclopedia Miss Wright played brilliantly a selection of Rachmaninoff's.

Mrs. Sant Bush at her home on Water street, entertained Monday with a "Spend the Day" in honor of Mrs. Roger Quisenberry, of the Simpsonville. Other guests of the occasion were: Mrs. Dottie Parke and little daughter, Willie, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Black and little son, Edward Lee, Mrs. Zella Donaldson and Mrs. Jennie Hilde and little daughter, Virginia.

MARRIED
The marriage of Miss Mattie Christian to Mr. Harrison Lindsey Scott was quietly celebrated on Thursday afternoon, November 18, at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride, on East Main street.
The Rev. Mark Collier officiated and only members of the two families were present. It was a quiet simple wedding, but beautiful in detail. The house was attractively decorated with plants and great bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and in the living room the scene of the ceremony, an altar of plants was arranged before the mantel. The couple entered together and stood before the pretty pyramid of green for the immediate ceremony, the bride being given in marriage by her father, Mr.
E. C. Christian. After the blessing and prayer they were showered with congratulations and left immediately for a trip of two weeks. They were accompanied to Paris by the bride's sister, Mrs. Andrew Johns, and Mr. Johns and the bride groom's sister, Mrs. Hughes Spurr, and left from there for Cincinnati, Chicago and other points. On their return they will make their home with the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Scott, on South Broadway.
The bride is charming and attractive, and was beautiful in a stylish brown tailored suit trimmed with fur, with brown hat, and her bouquet was of bride's roses and valley lilies. She is the older of two lovely daughters of the home and is pretty and much admired.
The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott. He is popular and attractive personally and one of Lexington's prominent young business men, holding a position in the office of the Sheriff, Mr. Thomas C. Bradley, and has a host of friends who wish him and his lovely bride much joy and happiness.—Lexington Herald.
Dr. Chas. R. Snyder, of Louisville, and Miss Emma Bryan were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bryan, in North Middletown, Monday, the 15th inst. The bride is one of Louisville's most beautiful and attractive young ladies and has many friends. Dr. Snyder is one of the best known traveling men in Kentucky, having a personal acquaintanceship with many persons in every city and town in the State. He is a worthy young man and is well known in this city, where he has many friends. Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Snyder left for a trip to Cuba and other foreign ports, where they will spend a year, the genial groom having been granted a year's leave by his employers, Parke, Davis & Co., of Detroit, Mich., with whom he has been associated for several years. Upon their return Dr. and Mrs. Snyder will reside in Louisville. With many friends throughout the State, we join in extending heartly congratulations.
Sets a Precedent.
With the induction into office of the new Governor at Frankfort, on December 7, will come, unprecedented in the annals of the State, the elevation of a woman to a position of power and influence at the State capital. The first official act of Governor Stanley has been the appointment of Miss Minnie R.
Mabler, of Henderson, as secretary to the Governor at a salary of $2,000 per year. Miss Mabler was private secretary to Mr. Stanley during two terms of his congressional career, and is a young woman possessing rare culture and great executive ability.
New Oil Field.
Wayne county is said to have an abundance of oil and many test wells will be drilled in the near future. A Five-Dollar Oil Company has been organized at Monticello, which gives the subsorber a 1-200 interest in a test well, and so on, according to the amount subscribed. Many rich pools have already been discovered, and the people of that section are very optimistic regarding the outlook.

We wish to call the attention of the public to the following ordinance of this city:

(b) "The Board of Council shall meet on the first Monday in December after their election and, after having qualified as required by law, shall thereupon, or as soon thereafter as practicable but before the first Monday in January succeeding, appoint the following officers whose term of office shall begin on the first Monday in January and continue for two years and until their successors are appointed or elected and qualified to-wit: City Clerk, City Treasurer, City Assessor, City Collector, City Policemen (except Chief of Police), City Engineer and such other officers as the Board of Councilmen may deem it necessary all of whom shall have the qualifications required by law for their respective offices."

We call the attention of the public to this ordinance in order that they may be on their guard.

We have been elected to serve the people as councilmen for next the two years and it is our determination to do our duty as we see this duty in the light of all circumstances. We earnestly desire an expression of the will of the people made to us either by petition, letter or in person as to their desires in the matters above named.

We further call the attention of the people to the fact that it is the duty of the council to fix the salaries of the officers elected by them and this will be attended to by the council at the meeting named. Also to fix the number of policemen for the city for regular service, leaving it to the Mayor and Chief of Police to provide such extra police as may be required on special occasions.

We desire information as to the number of police for the regular service and as to the salaries to be fixed for the above named officers.

We invite your hearty co-operation in this matter in order that the best interests of the city may be served. And if you fail to give us the benefit of your advice, please remember after hold your peace if our actions should not meet the approval of the citizens.

This request is joined in by Joe Arnold, who is now absent from the city, and therefore can not sign the same. We have not formed a combination but intend to act as our judgment, aided by the advice of the people, dictates to us as the proper course. Respect,

Robt. Golden,
W. L. Leeds.

A Pine Whooping Cough Remedy.

Mother, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is just the remedy for your children's cold ailments. The fact is that pine is a quick enemy of cold conditions. Its qualities loosen the mucous in the throat, soothe the lungs and open up the air passages. The combination of honey, soothing and pleasant, with the loosening pine quality makes this an ideal cough remedy for children. Each passing year brings for it, new friends. A family of growing children cannot afford to be without it. 25c a bottle. All drug stores.

SEEING LIFE with JOHN HENRY & George V. Hobart

John Henry on Automobiles

SAY! did you ever have to leave the soothing influence of your own rattling radiator in the Big City and go romping off to a rich relation's for the Christmas weekend?

Well, don't do it, if you can help it. And if you can't help it get back home as soon as possible.

When Uncle Gilbert Hawley sent us an invitation to run up to Hawleyville for a day or two I looked at Peaches and she looked at me—then we both looked out of the window.

We knew what a wildly hilarious time we'd have splashing out small talk to the collection of human bric-a-brac always to be found at Uncle Gilbert's, but what is one going to do when the richest old gink in the family wants a bucking am?

I'll tell you what one is going to do—one is going to take to one's O'Sullivan's, beat it rapidly to a choo-choo and float into Uncle Gilbert's presence with business of being tickled to death—that's what one is going to do.

You know nature has a few immutable laws and one is that even a rich old uncle must in the full course of time pass on and leave nephews and nieces. Leave them what? Ah! that's it! Where's that time table?

Hawleyville is about forty miles away on the P. D. & Q., and it is some burg. Uncle Gilbert wrote it all himself.

Uncle Gilbert has nearly all the money there is in the world. Every time he signs a check a national bank goes out of existence. He tried to count it all once, but he sprained his wrists and had to stop.

On the level, when he goes into a bank all the government bonds get up and yell, "Hello, papa!"

When he cuts coupons it's like a sheep shearing.

He has muscles all over him like a prize fighter just from lifting mortgages.

When Peaches and I finally reached the Hawley mansion on the hill we found there a scene of great excitement. Old and distant relations were bustling up and down the stone steps, talking in whispers, servants with scared faces and popping eyes were peeping around the corner of the house and in the roadway in front of a sobbing automobile stood Uncle Gilbert and Aunt Miranda, made up to look like two members of the Peary expedition at the Pole.

After the formal greetings we were soon put up to the facts in the case. "You see, John," bubbled Aunt Miranda, while a pair of great green goggles danced an accompaniment on her nose, "I think the cosmopolitan has come to a man to open a garage in Hawleyville. But automobilists never got any blowouts or punctures going through here because there isn't a saloon in the town, so the garage failed and the man left town in an awful hurry and all your Uncle Gilbert got for the money he loaned was this car. We've been four years making up our minds to buy one and now we have one whether we want it or not."

"Fine!" I said. "Going out for a spin, Uncle Gilbert?"

"Possibly," he answered, never taking his eyes off the man-killer in front of him, which stood there trembling with anger.

"What car is it?" I inquired politely.

"It's a Seismic," Uncle Gilbert said. "Oh, yes, of course; made by the Earthquake Brothers in Powerville—good car for the hills, especially coming down." I volunteered. "Know how to run it?"

"No," he said. "I was always a good hand at machinery," Uncle Gilbert answered.

"Don't you think you should have a chauffeur?" Peaches suggested.

"Chauffeur! Why," Uncle Gilbert snapped back. "What do I want with one of those fellows sitting around eating me out of house and home?"

"Now you know why he has so much money."

"We'll be back in a little while,"

der the hood to see if the trouble was stubbornness or appendicitis.

Uncle Gilbert took a dislike to a brass valve and began to knock it with the monkey wrench, whereupon the valve got mad at him and upset a pint of ancient salad oil all over his features.

When Uncle Gilbert recovered consciousness the machine was breathing again, so he jumped to the helm, pointed the bow at Boston, Mass., and began to cut the grass.

Alas! however, it seemed that the demon of unrest possessed that Coal-oil Coupe, for it soon began to jump and skip, and suddenly, with a snort, it took the river road and scooted away from town.

Uncle Gilbert patted it on the back and spoke soothingly, but it was no use.

Aunt Miranda pleaded with him to keep in near the shore, because she was getting seasick; but her tears were in vain.

"You must appear calm and indifferent in the presence of danger," muttered Uncle Gilbert as they rushed madly into the bosom of a flock of cows.

But luck was with them, for with a turn of the wrist Uncle Gilbert whipped the machine across the road, and all he could feel was the sharp swish of the hood to see if the trouble was stubbornness or appendicitis.

an old cow's tail across his cheek as they rushed on and out of that animal's life forever.

Aunt Miranda tried to be brave and to chat pleasantly. "How in Wall street these days?" she asked, and just then the machine struck a stone and she went up in the air.

"Unsettled," answered Uncle Gilbert when she got back, and then there was an embarrassing silence.

To try to hold a polite conversation on a motor car in full flight is very much like trying to repeat the Declaration of Independence while falling from a seventh-story window.

Then, all of a sudden, the machine struck a chord in G and started for Newfoundland at the rate of 7,000,000 miles a minute.

Aunt Miranda threw her arms around Uncle Gilbert's neck, he threw his neck around the lever, the lever threw him over, and they both threw a fit.

Down the road ahead of them a man and his wife were quarrelling. They were so much in earnest that they did not hear the machine sneaking swiftly up on rubber shoes.

As the Benzine Buggy was about to fall upon the quarrelling man and wife Uncle Gilbert squeezed a couple of "My family pride is all right," answered Uncle Gilbert; "but there's a lot of contraptions in that machine I don't seem to recognize."

"Oh, that's all right; you're a handy little guy with machinery," I reminded him. "Hop in now and break forth. Don't let the public think that you're afraid to blow a bubble through the streets of your native town. The rubber sweater buttoned to the chin and the Dutch awning over the forehead for fairs, and on your way!"

Reluctantly Uncle Gilbert and Aunt Miranda climbed into the kerosene wagon and I gave him his final instructions.

"Now, Uncle Gilbert," I said, "grab that wheel in front of you firmly with both hands and put one foot on the accelerator. Now put the other foot on the rheostat and let the left elbow gently rest on the deadlier. Keep the rubber tube connecting with the automatic fog whistle closely between the teeth and let the right elbow be in touch with the quadruplex while the apex of the left knee is pressed over the spark coil and the right ankle works the condenser."

Uncle Gilbert grunted. "Why don't you put my left shoulder blade to work?" he muttered. "It's the only part of my anatomy that hasn't got a job."

"John," whispered the nervous Aunt Miranda, "do you really think your Uncle Gilbert knows enough about the car?"

"Sure," I answered, and I was very serious about it. "Now, Uncle Gilbert, keep both eyes on the road in front of you and the rest of your face in the wagon. Start the driving wheels, repeat slowly the name of your favorite coroner and leave the rest to fate!"

And away they started in the Whiz Wagon.

Before they had rolled along for half a mile through the town, the machine suddenly began to breathe fast and then, all of a sudden, it choked up and stopped.

"Will it explode?" whispered Aunt Miranda, pleadingly.

"No," said Uncle Gilbert, jumping out. "I think the cosmopolitan has buckled with the trapezoid, and then with a monkey wrench, he crawled un-

Is Your Rheumatism a Weather Prophet?

It is a sin to be a slave to the agonies of rheumatism whenever the weather changes. For 50 cents B. L. Middleton or any druggist will sell you a bottle of Rheuma. Use as directed and your pains will soon disappear.

Rheuma will put your kidneys and bowels in perfect condition. It gets to the seat of all the trouble and removes the cause by driving out the unnatural poisons. The use of one bottle will convince you that further suffering from rheumatism is needless.

Mail Boat is New Invention.

One of the queerest objects to be dubbed a boat is the "Yolanda II," a low-lying rakish craft, which promises to bring about as important a change in inland water traffic as Robert Fulton's "Clermont" did in 1807, when she made her way up the Hudson River without sail, to the surprise of the old boatmen.

The boat, which is a development of the hydroplane idea, is the invention of Gonzalo Mejia, a Colombian banker, who has the contract to carry mails for the Colombian Government up the Magdalena River, Colombia.

When not in motion the "Yolanda II" draws five inches of water, but as soon as the big retractors whir the bliz propeller blades around the boat guides over the surface with an inch or less of draft, at a maximum speed of 50 miles an hour.

It will make the trip of 600 miles from the Colombian coast to the capital in 24 hours, where formerly about 12 days were required.

Oldest Railway Company Employs Buoyant After Tackling Tanlac.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 23.—Pat Lally, well-known inspector for the Louisville Street Railway Company and an employee of that firm 37 years, has this to say about Tanlac, the premier preparation:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble which developed gradually into a general debilitated condition. I had indigestion and my food didn't taste right. When I got up in the morning I had a disagreeable taste in my mouth, was constipated, there was a fullness in my head and I had no desire for breakfast."

"I was tired all the time and pulled myself through my day's work with the greatest effort. As soon as I had taken a half bottle of Tanlac, I began to improve. When I awoke in the morning I feel refreshed. My appetite is all good and my food agrees with me. That tired feeling has left me and I am buoyant and feel like a new man."

WACO

Mrs. J. R. Cornelson, who has been in the Berea Hospital for several weeks with typhoid fever, returned home Monday to the delight of her family and many friends. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Strickland, of Fayetteville, N. C., are visiting Mr. H. P. Hubbard and family.

A number of friends and relatives enjoyed a very sumptuous birthday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKinney near Liberty Friday. It was the eighty-sixth birthday of Mr. Coby McKinney, a most worthy and highly esteemed citizen of this community. We hope he may live to have many more birthdays. Mr. McKinney's popular little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Boggs, died at 9:00 o'clock Friday night of diphtheria. She had been suffering from sore throat for some time but was seriously sick only a short time when death came. Roberta was a general pet wherever she was known and much sympathy is felt for the family.

Miss Elizabeth B. Covington has been out of school for several days on account of illness. Master Walker Dabney Covington is quite ill. Rev. L. H. Reynolds, of North Middletown, spent last week visiting friends in Waco and vicinity. He gave the lecture on "The Devil" at Flatwoods Sunday morning. A large audience was present and the sermon was well delivered and much appreciated. Some pessimism! A pessimism nine inches in circumference has been on display at the Waco Deposit Bank for some days. This pessimism came from North Carolina and is said to be a small one for that State.

VALLEY VIEW.

Miss Justine Bryson has been visiting her sister at West Irvine for a few weeks. Miss Francis Wharton, who is senior at the Waco School this year, has returned to her home for Thanksgiving. Miss Geneva Wiloughby and Lillian Maupin were the guests of Mrs. Simon Tudor Wednesday night.

Miss Temper Terrell gave quite an enjoyable entertainment at her schoolhouse Friday night. Mrs. M. F. Wharton and daughter, Miss Nancy, made a business trip to Lexington this week. Mr. Clay Griggs, who has been quite lame for a few weeks, is now a convalescent.

Headquarters Opened.

State headquarters for the Kentucky Equal Rights Association have been opened in this city by the president of the association, Mrs. Thomas J. Smith who will be in charge. Assistants by Mr. Harry Bright. The temporary headquarters are on Ann street in the Capital hotel building, but just where they will be located permanently has not been decided yet, and likely there will be no change until next month. The campaign headquarters will remain in Lexington in charge of Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, who with Mrs. Smith's election to the presidency, the State offices were removed to this city. Frankfort Capital.

Big Cattle-Big Prices.

Probably the largest beef cattle sale ever held in Southern Kentucky was that made by M. E. Webb's farm near Unkrih, Tennessee. Thirty-nine head of registered Herefords, averaging eight a head, were disposed of to buyers from Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Indiana and Kentucky. The top price was $200 for a two-year-old bull.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of United States weather bureau taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

Special attention is called to S. H. Knease & Co.'s advertisement in this paper. In writing them please say you saw it in the Climax-Madisonian.

Snow Flurry.

Last Friday was the coldest day of the season. Early in the morning the snow began to fly and there were flurries all day long. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon we had an old time blizzard. The wind reached a high velocity and one of the greatest snow flurries we have witnessed in years was pulled off. It only lasted about three minutes but it was furious. As soon as the cloud passed over the sun shone out as bright as a May day.

Governor Stanley.

Stanley, Democrat, won the election over Morrow, Republican, in the race for Governor by 417 votes, according to the returns as canvassed by the State Board of Election Commissioners Monday.

Barkdale Hamlet secured a temporary restraining order from the Clerk of the Franklin Circuit Court to stop the Board in its canvass of the returns in his and Judge Lewis' race for the office of Secretary of State.

He protested at the recertification of the Board, which gave Judge Lewis, his Republican opponent, 115 plurality.

Mr. Baldwin Britain Sustains Serious Injuries.

This popular young man was appointed as a cadet to the Naval Academy at Annapolis and after his entry there last fall, he became the victim of laziness. This custom has prevailed for many years in the school and the older class did not intend that young Britain should be any exception. So they undertook to give him the experience which many before him had suffered, and in doing so, young Britain fell and slipped on the hard tile flooring and painfully injured his knee. This injury has not yielded to treatment and he has suffered much pain and inconvenience therefrom. So far he has been unable to attend school and has not in fact yet recovered sufficient strength to use the limb. He is now improving and the many friends of his father and mother and his grandfather and grand mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baldwin, will rejoice to know that signs of improvement are hopeful. Here's wishing that the young Captain may be out and in full strength and health before the Holidays.

DEATHS

Mr. Day Hamilton died at his residence 470 Rose Lane, Lexington, Saturday morning after a long illness.

Deceased was the son of Mrs. A. E. Hamilton, of Lexington, and was in this city. He was about 30 years of age and is survived by his mother, wife and two children, one brother and two half brothers. Funeral services were conducted at his late home Monday morning at 10:30 by Dr. T. C. Eaton, after which the remains were brought to this city and interred in the family lot in the Richmond Cemetery. The bereaved family has the deepest sympathy of many friends.

Roberta, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Boggs, died at the home of her parents near Waco, about 9 o'clock Friday night, after a brief illness of diphtheria. The little victim was eight years of age and a most lovable child. She was the idol of her parents and the entire neighborhood.

Brief funeral services were conducted at the home Saturday morning, after which the remains were brought here and laid to rest in the family lot in the Richmond Cemetery. The bereaved parents have the deepest sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

Miss Nina Williams, aged 19 years, died at and looking at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Price Williams, on the Barnes Mill place, Thursday night at 11 o'clock. Deceased had been a sufferer from tuberculosis and her death was not unexpected, although it came as a severe shock to her family and legion of friends. Miss Williams was a young lady possessing rare traits of character. She was highly educated and was of a happy and bright disposition. She was the happy daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Price Williams, who together with her sister and one brother, mourn her death, and to whom the deepest sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended. The remains were interred in the Richmond Cemetery Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Brief funeral services were conducted at the grave by Rev. J. R. Reynolds, pastor of the Baptist church.

Saturday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sena Parks, near Red House, Miss Ada Parks, aged twenty-one years, died after a long illness of consumption. After funeral services Monday by her pastor, Rev. W. M. Williams, at the Methodist church at Red House, of which she was a devoted member, her remains were laid to rest in the Richmond Cemetery. Besides her widowed mother, she is survived by one brother, Luther Parks. Her father, Hugh Parks, died some years ago. Two sister also preceded her to the great beyond in the past few years, both of them victims of that dreadful scourge, consumption.

Sunday, November 21, at the home of her mother, Mrs. R. H. Dierker, of the Silver Creek neighborhood, Miss Emma Dierker, in her thirtieth year. Miss Dierker had been a great sufferer with asthma for many years but was in her usual health to within a few days of her death. She was a devoted Christian woman, a member of the Presbyterian church at Goodloe's Chapel. After funeral services at the family residence by Rev. Estridge, of Paint Lick, her remains were laid to rest in the Richmond Cemetery Monday. Besides her widowed mother she leaves six brothers and two sisters and a number of relatives and friends. Her six brothers acted as pallbearers at her funeral, an impressive and touching scene.

Notice to Correspondents.

The fact that your news letters do not appear in our paper must not be taken as indicating that we do not want them or that they are not worth publishing. We go to press Tuesday afternoon and sometimes letters come too late and at other times our columns are crowded with other matter and your letters are crowded out. Send your letters along every week. We want good news letters from all parts of the county.

Foot Badly Injured

Mr. Lackey Rice had the misfortune to have his left foot badly injured by a radiator fall on it. Three of his toes were nearly mashed off and his foot otherwise badly injured. He is able to hobble about with the aid of a cane. Lackey has many friends who deeply deplore his misfortune.

Liberty Bell.

Liberty Bell, the historic emblem and America's most revered relic, which rang out the nation's birth July 4, 1776, was on exhibition in Louisville a short time early Sunday morning. A number of the representatives of John Marshall Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, received the bell at the appointed hour, and Mrs. Sallie Marshall Hardy, regent of the chapter, and Mrs. Philip Allen, a member and grand-daughter of Chief Justice Marshall at whose death the bell was last tolled in 1835, crowded the historic relic with a large wreath tied with white ribbon, bearing the name of the chapter and date. More than forty thousand people viewed the historic relic.

Commissioner Smith Wins.

Two important decisions were handed down in the Bourbon Circuit Court last week in suits resulting from the Alexander Bank failure. The suits were against T. J. Smith, State Banking Commissioner, for amounts of $20,000 and $15,000, respectively, alleged to have been loaned by the plaintiffs to the Geo. Alexander & Company State Bank, of Paris. We clip the following from the Kentucky-Citizen:

"Judge R. L. Stout Thursday morning handed down his decisions in the cases of J. A. Wilson against T. J. Smith, State Banking Commissioner, and of Edward Sparks against T. J. Smith, State Banking Commissioner, in which the Court ruled adversely to the plaintiffs in both cases.

"Mr. Wilson brought suit against Thomas Smith, as State Banking Commissioner, seeking to secure a judgment for $20,000, alleged to have been loaned by him to the defunct Geo. Alexander & Company State Bank. Mr. Smith resisted the Wilson claim on the grounds that under the Alexander Bank chapter, the institution could not borrow more than 25 per cent. of its $100,000 capital stock legally, and the Court ruled that Mr. Wilson could not collect more than $10,000.

"In a similar suit against Backlog Commissioner T. J. Smith, by Mr. Edward Sparks, who had loaned the Alexander Bank $15,000, a similar ruling was made, in which it was held that Mr. Sparks could not recover more than $10,000 on his loan."
